40	agestill discerning with community	Mar 20, 2011 6:38 AM
41	As a maried woman with a groen family I was able to find an associate Order and am pleased to have found a way of living an authentic Christian life in commmunity with others as a married woman. I was not a Catholic and as such had no access to information concerning deepening Spiritual life and your site helped me to become aware of ways to achieve this. There are many women like me on various websites looking for avenues to combine marrige post child care with spiritual mission, hoever small. Please keep up the good work. God Bless you. Q1. Re	Q1. Regarding my vocation:
68	I am still praying for God's guidance. I feel as if I have been at a crossroad in my life for quite some time - do I continue with my academic path, should I apply to the Augustine Institute which both leave the possibility of marriage open - or is this inescapable feeling of being lost and alone related to my continually resurfacing question of whether God is calling me to enter consecrated life.	Mar 18, 2011 5:44 PM
69	I'm not thinking about vocations at the moment. I'm still open to consecarted life or marriage, but in September I started a 2 year Masters program so I'm focusing on that. As it is, I have some health and financial impediments that would have prevented me from entering this year anyway.	Mar 18, 2011 5:37 PM
